CALL FOR PAPERS

Practice-oriented technical contributions from the circle of users are part of the International Simulation Impact Technology Conference.

Not only for you, our participants, it is interesting and exciting to see, which experiences, findings and of course suggestions for the own use of your CAx product such as process simulation, material modeling or structural mechanics, will be revealed to the auditorium.

Give us an insight into your practical experience. Show us your application examples, case studies or let us share your view of things when performing the work. For your information, the conference language is English. The participation for attendees and speakers will be free of charge.

As part of our International Simulation Impact Technology Conference 2021 we gladly offer you the opportunity to be a speaker whether it being in a detailed 20 minute progress report or in the section "Short Reports".

Please choose:

Scope of presentation:

- ☐ Progress report (20 min + 10 min discussion)
- ☐ Short report (5 -10 min)
